NOTES ON THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF.

A child born deaf, or becoming deaf in early infancy, has on entering school no knowledge of language. The only knowledge he has is purely sense knowledge; he has no knowledge of the significance of words—whether written, spelled on the fingers, or spoken. The hearing child learns to speak by imitating the sounds and words he hears from the people around him, and develops a knowledge of language from his earliest years. When he arrives at school age, he is in possession of an extensive knowledge of the English language, and has received the mental development which is brought about by the acquisition and use of language. The deaf child, because of his deafness, does not learn to speak, does not acquire any knowledge of language, and misses much of the mental development that should be going on from babyhood to the age at which school life begins. He remains in intellectual infancy until he is placed under instruction, and it is desirable that his education should be begun at as early an age as possible, while there is some definite relationship between his mental and physical growth. The greater the gap between these, the more difficult is the work of education, and the highest results are secured in the cases of children who enter school at an early age.

The acquisition of the English language is the basis of the education of the deaf. Instruction in the ordinary school subjects cannot be attempted until the pupil has sufficient language to enable the communication of the necessary ideas, and according to the degree of appreciation of language, which necessarily varies with the varying intelligence of children, is progress made in other subjects. The development of language in a congenitally deaf child has been likened to the acquisition of a foreign language by a hearing person. This, however, is not a suitable illustration. The hearing person has all his knowledge of his native language to assist him in the interpretation of the foreign; whereas the deaf child, cut off as he is by his deafness from all knowledge of the vernacular of his country, has no such assistance.

The aim of the teacher of the deaf in developing a knowledge of language in his pupils is to follow, as nearly as possible, the manner in which the little hearing child acquires his knowledge in the natural way. All our methods and systems are based on the laws governing the acquisition of language by normal children.

There are two main methods of imparting instruction to deaf children—the ORAL METHOD and the SILENT METHOD. In the former, Speech and Speech-Reading are employed, and in the latter the Manual Alphabet; Writing being common to both. The choice of method for individual children is decided from considerations of age, condition, and capability.

The ORAL METHOD seeks to give the child an intelligible speech, and the ability to read from the lips the language of everyday life. The sounds employed in our language are taught separately, in the order of increasing difficulty. As the progress of the child permits, these sounds are combined into words, of which he is taught the meaning, and the words into phrases and sentences, very simple in the early stages, but gradually and continuously expanding.

FIFTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

New South Wales Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind,

FOR THE YEAR ENDED ON SEPTEMBER 30th, 1912.

It is with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that the Board of Directors submit the following report of the progress and the events that have occurred during another year of the Institution's history. Solid progress has been made in the education of the children, and in the equipment of the Institution to enable it to carry out efficiently the work for which it was established. But the Institution has suffered severe loss during the year by the death of three members of the Board to whom reference is made on another page.

PUPILS.

At the close of the Jubilee Year of the Institution on September 30, 1911, there were 140 pupils on the roll. The number now is 143, an increase of three. The increase would be larger but for the fact that the Institution is full on the boys' side and has had to postpone the admission of several children on that account.

The following tabulated statement shows the admissions and discharges during the year and the number of pupils on the roll at the present time:—

	Deaf & Dumb.		Blind.		Deaf and Dumb and Blind	Totals.		Grand
	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Girl.	Boys.	Girls.	Total.

The ages of the children admitted vary from five to fifteen years. Some of these children should have been in school much sooner. The time lost through being kept at home until so far advanced in age can never be regained and will prove a serious handicap to them in after years. The Directors were very hopeful a year ago that an Act for the compulsory education of the Deaf and the Blind would ere now be in operation, but they regret to say such is not the case. A Bill for the compulsory attendance at school of normal children was submitted to Parliament in October last, but contained no provision of similar kind for deaf and blind children, although the Directors have called attention to the urgent necessity for such provision for many years past. When the Bill referred to was under consideration by Parliament the Hon. Secretary, at the request of the Board, interviewed the Minister for Public Instruction with the object of inducing him to insert a clause dealing with deaf and blind children. The Minister said it was the intention of the Government to submit to Parliament a separate measure at no distant date dealing with these and also children who are mentally deficient, &c. The Directors hope and trust this important matter will not be delayed much longer, but that the right of the Deaf and the Blind to receive such an education as will enable them to fight life's battles successfully and to become useful and independent members of the community will be as fully recognised and provided for as is that of other children. At present the responsibility for their education rests with the parents, many of whom recognise the claims of their afflicted children in this respect and gladly embrace the opportunity of giving them the education and training they so sadly need, but there are others who fail to realise the necessity for so doing, who are deaf to all appeals and who selfishly and deliberately keep their afflicted children in a condition of deplorable ignorance until the time during which they could have been educated has passed entirely. These children are capable of acquiring knowledge, but, simply for the want of education, must eventually become a burden on the State. The attention of the Government and of parents is again earnestly invited to this important question and an urgent appeal is here made on behalf of those who are deprived of one or more of their senses for the privilege of sharing in the blessings of education, of being raised from a condition of misery and dependence to one of happiness and self-reliance, and of being permitted to share in the general advancement and prosperity of the community.

The health of the children, on the whole, has been very good, there having been no epidemic amongst them and but few cases of illness of a serious nature. In this connection the Directors are pleased to report that our Hon. Medical Officers have been very assiduous in the performance of their duties and in their attention to the children whenever called upon. Special mention should be made of the splendid service rendered by Dr. George E. Rennie, who spent a great deal of time in making a thorough examination of all the children, and afterwards submitted to the Board a most minute report bearing upon that examination. A special vote of thanks was passed by the Board and sent to Dr. Rennie for the excellent work he had carried out and for his valuable report, a copy of which was sent to the Hon. the Minister of Public Instruction for his information.

The Hon. Ophthalmic Surgeon, Dr. J. C. Halliday, has performed very valuable services during the year. Following a sight test of all the deaf children, the eyes of all those whose vision was below normal were carefully examined by him, and glasses prescribed where these were deemed necessary. In addition, Dr. Halliday has continued his systematic work with the blind children.

Dentistry has received considerable attention, and is now on a more satisfactory basis than was formerly possible. Weekly visits are paid by the Hon. Dentists, Mr. A. G. Gabriel and Mr. H. E. Walker, and their careful and skilful attention to the teeth of the children calls for sincerest thanks.

Our deaf-blind pupil, Alice Betteridge, continues to make most excellent progress in school, for which great credit belongs to her teacher, Miss Reid, B.A., to whose unremitting patience, perseverance and skill Alice's success is almost entirely due. A more detailed account respecting Alice's education and advancement will be found in the report of the Superintendent.

At the invitation of the Board the Minister of Public Instruction kindly permitted Messrs. Senior Inspectors Beavis and Friend to visit the Institution on the 16th, 17th and 19th September, and examine the children. The full text of their report will be appended hereto.

FINANCIAL.

The income for the past year on General Fund Account was £246 19s 6d in excess of that of the previous year, which the Directors consider very satisfactory.

The income, including a balance of 8s 10d from the previous year, was	£6536	15	1
The Expenditure, including £350 transferred to Building Fund Account, was	6634	0	4
Leaving a debit balance of	£97	5	3

The sum of £2930 has been borrowed from the Perpetual Subscribers' Fund towards the cost of erecting new buildings. The Directors, while cordially thanking the subscribers for their generous assistance in the past, hope that they and the general public will continue, and, if possible, increase their contributions, so that this loan may be repaid as quickly as possible. Providing additional buildings also means increased expenditure for maintenance, and while the above amount remains unpaid the interest on same becomes an additional charge on the Institution.

The following legacies have been received during the year and placed to the credit of the Perpetual Subscribers' Fund:—£3000 from the estate of the late Mrs. H. M. Neale, being one-half of the legacy left to the Institution by that lady. This amount was invested in City of Sydney Municipal debentures at $3\frac{7}{8}$ per cent. interest; £130 from the estate of the late Miss Mary A. Chater, being about one-third of the amount coming to the Institution from this source; £100 from the estate of the late Nathaniel G. Bull; and £20 from that of the late James Bartlett, making £160 received from this estate to date.

A donation (the second) of £50 kindly forwarded by Mrs. Benjamin Buchanan, of London, has also been placed to the credit of the Perpetual Subscribers' Fund.

The sum of £170 12s 6d was received from the estate of Mrs. H. M. Neale by way of interest, and was placed to the credit of the General Fund Account.

A special donation of £20 was received from the Executors of our late Governor, His Excellency Admiral Sir Harry H. Rawson, who left a letter with his will requesting that this amount be paid to the Institution out of his estate. The money was kindly forwarded by his son, Lieut. Harry C. Rawson.

The Directors are profoundly thankful for the above-mentioned legacies and donations, and, in drawing attention to them, would respectfully urge upon the wealthy members of the community when making their wills to follow the good example set and to remember this Institution and the beneficent work it is doing in the education and training of the children committed to its care. Surplus wealth could not be better disposed of than in the furtherance of the objects for which this Institution was established, and which it has carried on so successfully for over half a century.

The sum of £100 4s 6d has been collected during the year by our friends in the country districts. Some of them have kindly given their services in this way for many years. Their assistance is warmly appreciated by the Board.

BUILDINGS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

For many years the Directors have had under consideration the advisableness of providing additional accommodation to cope with the growing demands of new pupils, and have from time to time waited upon the representatives of various Governments for assistance in that direction, but so far without success. It has now become an absolute necessity, and the Board determined to make a start by converting the large hall into dining rooms, and building a new kitchen adjoining, with sculleries, storerooms, etc., attached, and bedrooms, bathrooms, hospital, etc., on the floors above. Tenders were called for the work and that of Mr. George Dalton, for £4048 6s. was accepted. The contract has been faithfully carried out under the supervision of Messrs. A. L. McCredie and Anderson (Hon. Architects), and the rooms are now quite ready for occupation. These additions and alterations were badly needed for the efficient carrying out of the domestic work of the Institution and will prove a great convenience.

It is next proposed to pull down the old dining room and kitchen and to erect in place thereof an assembly room with modern class rooms on each side and with dormitories, officers' quarters, bathrooms, etc., above. These additions are also urgently needed and must be provided as soon as possible. At present the dormitory accommodation on the boys' side of the house is occupied to its fullest capacity, and some applications for admission have had to be postponed for lack of room, while the school work is being carried out under very disadvantageous circumstances for want of proper class rooms. Unfortunately the Institution has no money available for these additions without trenching on the Perpetual Subscribers' Fund, which the Directors are very reluctant to do. But the work has been put off until it cannot be delayed any longer. The Directors have appealed to the Government for assistance toward these additions, but so far no decision has been arrived at.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS, LADIES' VISITING COMMITTEE AND HONORARY STAFF.

It is with feelings of the deepest regret the Directors have to report the death during the year of three members of the Board, viz., John Harris, Esq., J.P., John Pope, Esq., J.P., and L. C. Russell-Jones, Esq., J.P. Mr. Harris and Mr. Pope had both been ailing for some time and therefore had not been able to attend the meetings of the Board. Mr. Harris, who had been a life director since 1881, died on the 7th November last. Mr. Pope, who had been a director for ten years, died on the 13th January. Mr. Russell-Jones had been a director since October, 1905, and attended the meetings regularly until his departure for England in November last, when he was granted leave of absence for twelve months. The news of his death, which occurred unexpectedly at Southport on the 13th May last, came as a great shock to the Board. Each of these three gentlemen took a warm interest in the welfare of the Institution, and not only gave their time but considerable monetary assistance as well to further its advancement. Richard Slee, Esq., J.P., another warm-hearted friend of the Institution, passed away on the 25th September. Mr. Slee, in consideration of a generous gift, was appointed a life-director in 1878, and for many years showed his interest in, and sympathy for, the pupils by bringing them large donations of fruit. The Directors placed on record their appreciation of the services rendered by these gentlemen and sent letters of sympathy and condolence to their sorrowing relatives.

Messrs. Thomas S. Holt, William Wynn and Robert Vicars have been appointed to fill the vacancies caused by the above-mentioned deaths.

Mr. Robert Chadwick, J.P., director, has gone to England for twelve months.

The directors are very pleased to be able to say there has been no change in the Ladies' Visiting Committee during the past year, and they desire to express their gratitude to that Committee for the efficient service that has been so cheerfully and willingly rendered. The ladies are very assiduous in the performance of their labour of love, visit the Institution regularly, supervise the domestic arrangements, report to the Board any needed improvements and in other ways render very great assistance.

Dr. E. Selwyn Harrison was elected at the last annual general meeting to act in conjunction with Dr. P. Sydney Jones as Honorary Physician to the Institution. They each perform the duties of this important office in half-year periods.

Henry E. Walker, Esq., surgeon dentist, has been appointed as Hon. Dentist in conjunction with A. G. Gabriel, Esq., who has occupied the position for the past five years.

The Directors regret to report that Miss Stella Rosenthal, who had generously performed the duties of Honorary Teacher of Needlework since 1905, was compelled during the year to resign the position owing to ill-health. A letter conveying the appreciation of the Board for the services she had so kindly and efficiently rendered and expressing a hope that she would soon be restored to health was sent to Miss Rosenthal.

Mrs. Harold Earlam, the wife of our Superintendent, very kindly undertook the duties of the office rendered vacant by Miss Rosenthal's resignation, and was duly appointed.

For very valuable services rendered in their various capacities the warmest thanks of the Board have been awarded to the undermentioned Hon. Officers, viz., Dr. George E. Rennie, Hon. Consulting Physician and Hon. Medical Inspector; Dr. C. P. B. Clubbe, Hon. Consulting Surgeon; Dr. J. C. Halliday, Hon. Ophthalmic Surgeon; Dr. John B. Graham, Hon. Aural Surgeon; Dr. P. Sydney Jones and Dr. E. Selwyn Harrison, Hon. Physicians; Messrs. A. L. McCredie and Anderson, Hon. Architects; Percy J. Pratt, Esq., Hon. Solicitor; A. G. Gabriel, Esq., and Henry E. Walker, Esq., Hon. Dentists; T. F. H. Mackenzie, Esq., F.C.P.A., and Henry Pratt, Esq., F.C.P.A., Hon. Auditors; Miss Stella Rosenthal and Mrs. Harold Earlam, Hon. Teachers of Fancy Needlework; Miss Gladys McIntyre, Hon. Teacher of Elocution to the Blind children; and Miss Hilda Buckler, who has kindly spent many Saturday mornings in teaching kindergarten games to our little children, both blind and deaf.

OFFICIAL STAFF.

Mr. Henry Cooke, after 32 years arduous service as Assistant Secretary and Accountant, was granted in February last six months' leave of absence for the benefit of his health, and to enable him to visit England. He returned in August thoroughly restored to health, and at once resumed his duties. While in England and Scotland he visited a number of kindred institutions and enquired into the methods of teaching. So far as he was able to judge the teaching was conducted on very similar lines to that of this Institution. In some few of the Institutions he found that provision was made for trade or purely industrial teaching, but the consensus of opinion appears to be that the ordinary school period is too short, and the difficulties of elementary education too great, for this to be satisfactorily attempted except by an extension of the school period beyond the age of 16 years, and that the highest interests of the Deaf are served by devoting the ordinary school years to language and general educational development. Some of the institutions visited were much better equipped in regard to class rooms than ours, but the Directors hope to be able very soon to place this Institution on as good a footing in that respect as any institution in the world.

The teaching staff has been considerably strengthened during the year by the advent of two highly qualified and experienced teachers from Great Britain, viz., Mr. John O. Love, who arrived on February 22nd, and Mr. Charles H. Haylett, B.A., who came on April 1st.

Miss Lilley, teacher of dressmaking, resigned her position in March, and Miss Alexander was appointed needle-woman.

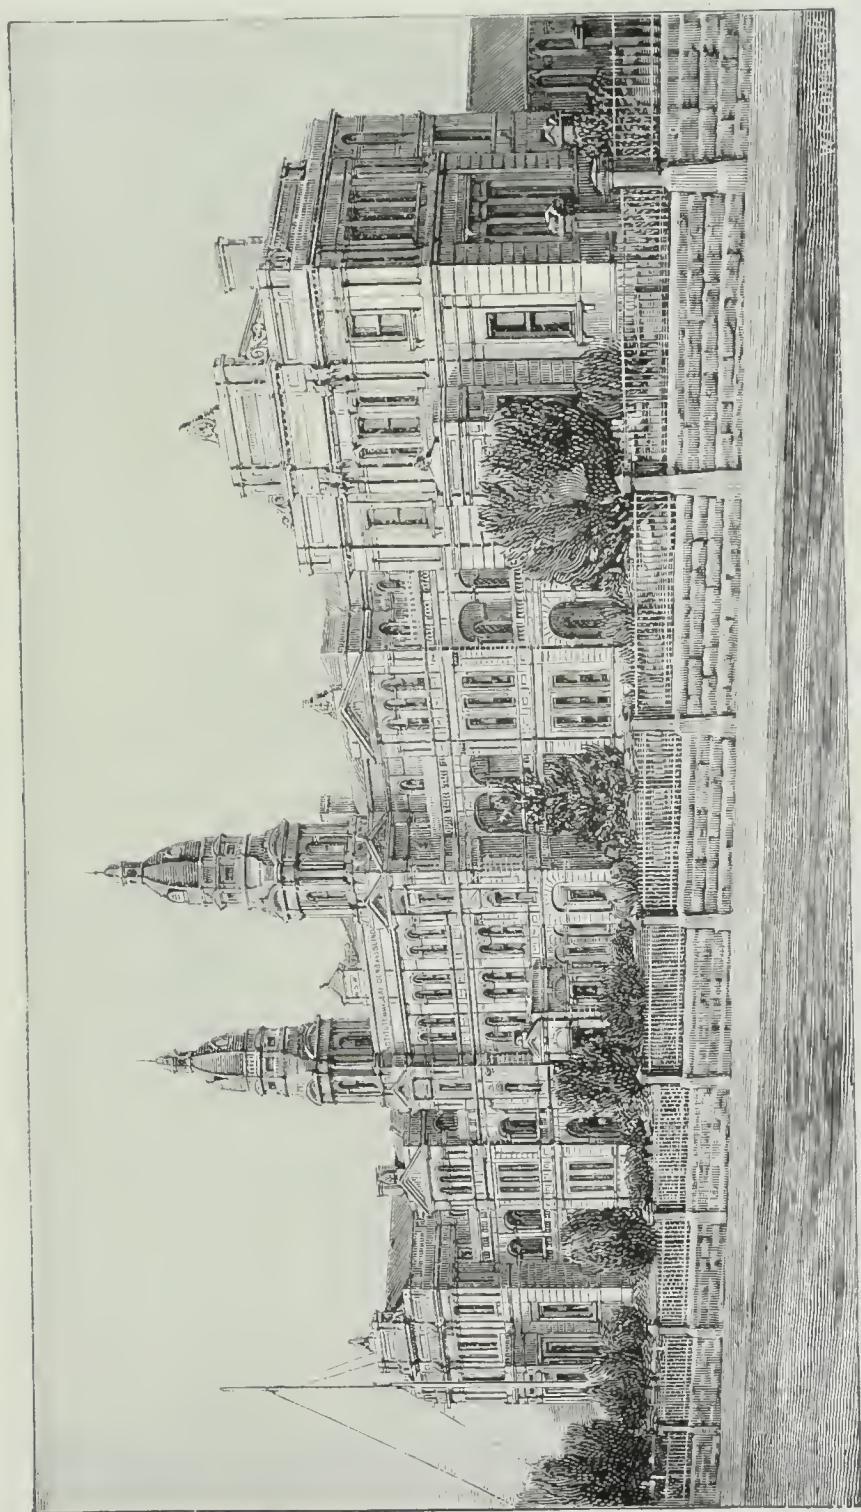

GENERAL.

On the 22nd November last the pupils and officers spent a very happy day at Canterbury House, Ashfield, where they were hospitably entertained by Colonel and Mrs. Goodlet.

Through the kindness of Mr. F. H. Dangar, of London, the pupils received a treat of fruit, cakes, and sweets in December. This treat was first given many years ago and has been continued annually ever since, to the great gratification of the children, who highly appreciate Mr. Dangar's thoughtful kindness.

The annual distribution of prizes at the breaking-up of the school for the Christmas holidays took place on the 14th December last in the presence of a large gathering of parents and friends. Mr. Robert Chadwick, J.P., presided, and Mrs. Munee very kindly handed the prizes to the successful pupils. Some of these prizes were awarded by the Board, others were given by members of the Ladies' Visiting Committee and some warm-hearted friends who come forward year after year with valuable prizes to encourage the pupils in their studies. For this practical interest in the advancement of the children the Directors hereby express their warmest thanks.

At the kind invitation of His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir George F. King-Hall, K.C.B., C.V.O., the officers and pupils visited H.M.S. Drake, the flagship of the Australian Station, on the 17th April, and spent a very pleasant time looking over the warship. They were afterwards conveyed to Admiralty House, where they were entertained with games and refreshments. Altogether they spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

On Saturday, 21st September, the Automobile Club gave the pupils a very pleasant outing. Thirty-five cars were sent to the Institution, and every scholar, without exception, was able to go. The Club also very generously provided the children with refreshments, to which full justice was done.

The Directors desire to acknowledge a generous donation of biscuits, sweets, etc., kindly sent by the North Coast Steam Navigation Co., for the entertainment of the pupils.

INSTITUTE FOR THE ADULT DEAF.

This branch of the Institution's operations continues to make satisfactory progress under the able guidance of Mr. Earlam, Superintendent. The meetings of the Institute are well attended, both on Sundays and week-days. The members take a keen interest in everything that is done for their instruction and benefit. It is a pleasure to be able to state that no member of the Institute is out of employment, and that most, if not all of them, are doing well and proving themselves a credit to the Institution in which they were trained and which has done so much for them in fitting them to fight life's battles successfully. The funds of the Institute are in a fairly flourishing condition, there being a credit balance of £56 10s 9d.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion the Directors desire to express their gratitude to Almighty God for another year's blessings and mercies, for the good that has been done and for the encouragement received from many warm-hearted friends, and they hope these blessings will be continued in the future.

JOHN H. GOODLET, President.

SUPERINTENDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT.

14th October, 1912.

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Gentlemen,—I have pleasure in presenting my Second Annual Report, which has reference to the first complete year's work of the Institution under my Superintendency.

In dealing with the educational work of the schools, I am conscious of very considerable advances made since my last report. The teaching staff has been strengthened by the inclusion of Mr. C. H. Haylett, B.A., and Mr. J. O. Love, who were selected from a number of very eligible applicants, and came to us from the Old Country at the beginning of the present year. I need at this point say nothing more than that my anticipations have been realised in the cases of both these gentlemen, and that they are performing very excellent services. The classes in the deaf school are now smaller, and better grading has been possible in consequence. The reduction in the size of classes has resulted in much general improvement, and the educational development of the children has progressed as satisfactorily as our present imperfect conditions have permitted. In language, the development of which is the main problem in the education of the deaf, much advancement is to be recorded. The concentrated efforts of the teaching staff and myself have been directed to the cultivation of the language habit in the children, and the degree of success attained up to now indicates great possibilities in the future.

In Manual work, Drawing, and Physical Development, excellent work has been done by the teachers, and the progress of the children has been extremely satisfactory. The daily physical exercises have undoubtedly improved the physique and carriage of the children, and their disciplinary value has been great. The system of drawing introduced by me is producing excellent results, and the improvement shown by the children has been striking. Great strides too have been made in Manual work.

Among the developments of the year under review has been the establishment of a School Magazine, the type-setting and printing of which is done by the deaf boys under the supervision of Mr. Haylett. I am hopeful that this little journal will be of much value in securing an intelligent interest in the work of the schools, and in the language development of the children.

The work of the blind school has gone on in the most satisfactory manner. The difficulties under which the work is carried on are unusually great, and the attainments of the children are, under existing circumstances, particularly good. Their progress during the year, both in the ordinary scholastic subjects and in their manual work, has been extremely satisfactory; and the children and their attainments reflect much credit on Miss Reid, the Senior Teacher, whose personal teaching work is of a very high order, and who in addition supervises the work of the other teachers in this department.

The progress and development of our blind-deaf child Alice Betteridge continues to be remarkable. She has now a full knowledge of elementary English, which she uses with perfect accuracy, and in a perfectly normal and natural manner. She is rapidly acquiring a mastery of the more complex forms of expression, and her language is extending in range and application almost daily. She has great taste for reading, and reads most intelligently. All her work is well done, and in every branch she has during the year made substantial and rapid progress. Her high natural intelligence, affectionate and happy disposition, and the energy and enthusiasm she evinces in her work combine to make her a singularly attractive child, and the problem of her education is an engrossing one. Too much praise could not be accorded to her teacher, Miss Reid, whose labours with Alice during the past year have been marked by the same thoughtful skill and affection that have always characterised the really great work she has done with her deaf-blind charge.

The Senior Teachers in the deaf school, Miss Beaumont and Mr. H. C. Byrne, have continued to show whole-hearted devotion to their duties, and Miss Beaumont's most valuable work in the Junior Department, of which she has the oversight, is a feature of the work of the school. The earnestness of purpose and enthusiasm of the teaching staff generally in their work are most commendable, and the intelligence and energy they have shown in carrying on their difficult and arduous work have been very gratifying to me.

Regular meetings of the teachers have been continued throughout the year, and matters of educational and professional nature discussed. In addition to the part I have personally taken in introducing matters of educational work and policy, valuable papers have been contributed by Misses Beaumont, Reid and McIntyre, and Messrs. Byrne, Haylett and Love. The value of these meetings in cultivating a professional outlook and securing unity of purpose is considerable, and the isolated conditions under which our work is carried on render them specially essential.

Miss Stella Rosenthal, who for a number of years had done excellent work as Hon. Teacher of Fancy Needlework, was unfortunately compelled some months ago to resign her post for reasons of health; and Mrs. Earlam has undertaken the work. We have been fortunate in securing the services of two other honorary teachers—Miss Gladys McIntyre, who conducts a class in Elocution with blind children, and Miss Hilda Buckler, who takes a Saturday morning class with our little children, both blind and deaf, and teaches them Kindergarten games. The work performed by these ladies is most valuable and helpful, and I desire to express sincere gratitude for their generous and gratuitous services.

I submit reports from Messrs. Bennett and Massey on Drawing and Music respectively.

The domestic routine of the Institution has, under the capable management of the Matron, Mrs. Clarke, continued to run smoothly and well. The various responsible and arduous duties pertaining to the office of Matron are carried out by Mrs. Clarke with consistent skill and efficiency, and her constant care of the children is most praiseworthy.

In conclusion, I beg to express my sincere gratitude for the consideration you have extended to me. Your careful and sympathetic attention to all the matters I have brought before you, and your manifest desire to secure all that is best for our blind and deaf children, have helped to make my work particularly congenial, and are a constant incentive to me in my efforts to promote the advancement of the Institution and the highest educational and general development of its children.

I beg to remain, Gentlemen,

Yours faithfully,

HAROLD EARLAM,

Superintendent.

MUSIC MASTER'S REPORT.

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Gentlemen,—In presenting my music report of blind pupils, I have much pleasure in stating that their progress has been satisfactory.

Singing, questions on theory of music, and ear tests are given regularly each week.

The singing class provides a healthful and pleasant form of indoor occupation, and through the words of the songs a possible moral and educative force is conveyed. We cannot, however, pretend to believe that all our blind in adult life will become performers of music, but all who are adequately taught in childhood to sing and play can become appreciative listeners in the home and elsewhere.

The three (3) piano students, viz., Amy Herbert, Clive Thorn-dyke, and Marcus Burkitt are working splendidly.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR MASSEY.

ART SUPERVISOR'S REPORT.

Gentlemen,—Since the beginning of the new system of having all the deaf pupils taught drawing, without regard to talent or natural inclination, enough time has elapsed to allow of a fair expression of opinion as to the progress made.

Apart from those who had a previous knowledge of drawing, the progress of the pupils is apparent to the most casual observer.

The advancement during the past twelve months has, in my opinion, been beyond all expectation.

At the commencement of the new system the irresponsive gloominess which pervaded the class rooms has now given place to an intelligence and brightness in the face of the pupils, who love to interpret in their books the gladdening and inspiring little bits of nature in the shape of flowers, sprays of leaves, etc., that are set before them.

The system of teaching every one to draw and paint irrespective of any native talent cannot fail to have an uplifting tendency, both intellectual and moral.

Thanks are due to the teachers, who, by their earnest work, have helped to make it possible for me to express with pleasure my very great satisfaction at the progress already made, and to look forward to a still higher standard of excellence.

I am, yours faithfully,

J. A. BENNETT.

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

NEW SOUTH WALES INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.

Visited 16th, 17th, 19th September, 1912.

Modern society claims as an essential that its members shall have education for citizenship. Seeing that the requirement is recognised in the case of those who are in full possession of their faculties, how much more must the need be admitted in relation to those who by reason of their infirmities have much more limited opportunities of development.

Our inspection of the Institution this year was extended, as in former years, to every phase of its working. Nothing was withheld from observation, and we received in reply to our inquiries not only the fullest details, but a ready courtesy which we desire to acknowledge.

The building scheme to which reference was made last year, has not yet been carried out, but is in progress. Remodelling, turning to useful account the large Assembly Hall, is approaching completion. The Directors of the Institution have responded most liberally to the representations of the Superintendent, and when all contemplated improvements have been effected, the material arrangements should be quite up-to-date. Although additions to equipment have not been many, the need has not escaped notice; the new rooms will be well equipped. There is double demand for special sense aids with "wisdom at one entrance quite shut out." The garden of the Institution is now a teaching aid. The children have a direct share in its working, and are much interested. As yet only vegetables are grown. Floriculture should appeal strongly to the deaf; and, joined with art, should create refining influences where by reason of the language difficulty, so little can be achieved in the realms of literature. Quite recently a school magazine has been published in printed form. One of its aims is to help the deaf who unfortunately at present are able to make but little contribution to its pages.

So long as there is no compulsory provision for the education of the deaf and the blind children, the measure of accomplishment is not likely to be satisfactory. Attendance being optional, the average age at which the children come under instruction is 9 years; so that accepting 14 as the leaving age, there are only 5 years in which to do with defective children what so many normal children fail to accomplish in almost twice the time. The average age of the silent classes for the deaf is 13½ years. Hereunder is a summary of the classification of the pupils:—

Deaf School: 78 boys, 41 girls, 119 total; 12 classes, 11 teachers.

Blind School: 17 boys, 7 girls, 24 total; 5 classes, 3 teachers.

Five special teachers give instruction in drawing, music, wood-work, fancy needlework, and cookery.

All the classes do not represent groups distinct in attainments; two are "silent" classes, while the older boys and girls are grouped according to sex. As far as circumstances will permit attempt is made to group the children on lines similar to those observed in public schools. The instruction appears to be well planned in brief half-yearly programmes, supplemented by more detailed weekly records.

Government.

Notwithstanding obvious difficulties the government is gentle and effective. The children are attentive and eager, while the teachers are examples of patience and good temper. Cheerfulness is evident, particularly in the playground. Physical drill and organised games are now recognised as very important educational agencies. The deaf children drill remarkably well, seeming to have no difficulty in preserving rhythm of movement. Commands are given partly by signs and partly by word of mouth. The pupils can lip-read orders at some distance—a chain or more. With the blind the case is more difficult. They must be in touch with each other when marching, and all their activities are guided more or less by sound. In consequence of their lower physique they need outdoor exercise more than the deaf. They can skip with ease. Even the little girl who is blind and deaf boasts that she can skip up to 100.

All the children come under regular medical inspection, details of cases being recorded for reference. An honorary dentist attends to the teeth. Under advice of an honorary ophthalmic surgeon glasses are supplied to children who require them.

The School for the Deaf.

Two groups are taught by manual methods. With the rest the aim is still to get conversational language through lip-reading and articulation. Some progress has certainly been made with the older children; with the younger the progress is marked. The "silent" classes (15 pupils), through some physical or mental peculiarity, it is not practicable to teach orally, the medium of the instruction being finger language; some of the biggest problems of the Institution are to be found here. The blackboard is the chief agency of language teaching. In the earlier stages children express themselves in writing under certain fixed heading, as "Who?", "can do", "what?" The writing is good, and the spelling is particularly correct throughout the school. The pupils' impressions of course are visual only. In their reproduction of words, sound value do not, as in the case of hearing children, lead to any confusion. To this circumstance and a carefully devised system of instruction the accuracy of the spelling is attributable.

Number work, like other branches, has its necessary limitations. Ordinary children learn independently transactions in buying and selling; the deaf spend their pennies in fruit once a week, but otherwise have little knowledge of these matters. Accordingly simple household problems present difficulties. What has been accomplished in the circumstances is creditable. In the highest classes easy practical applications of money and of some of the weights and measures represent the full achievement.

Subject lessons receive as much attention as language attainments make possible. A simple course of Scripture and moral instruction—non-sectarian—has been entered on with a view to emphasise the two main principles of duty to God, and duty to neighbour.

Very marked advance has been made in employing drawing and other visual representations as aids in instruction. The art-work has been entirely changed in plan; it is all original and designed for expression. Much of it is highly creditable. Chalk drawings, brush work, object drawing, plan drawing, and simple modelling are all included. In no part of the school work has there been so noticeable an advance.

The School for the Blind.

There are five classes in this school. The pupils read well from Braille type; they can express themselves intelligently on the matter read or otherwise presented; they can grasp ordinary problems in mental arithmetic, and it is easy to break ground on most subjects. As the result of assiduous teaching, commendable achievements in history, civics, geography, and Scripture are to be noted.

In the lowest class (period 1 to 2 years), the children can, as a rule, read fluently, easy words of one or two syllables. In some cases the progress has been surprising; e.g., two pupils who have received 8 and 12 months' instruction respectively, are able to read sentences containing simple words of two syllables. The following is a synopsis of some of the courses of work for the highest class:—

English.—Reading: Crown Reader 6. Supplementary Reading from books in the School Library, including "Sixty years a Queen," "The Last Days of Pompeii," "A History of our own Times," "David Copperfield," "Kenilworth."

Literature.—English Literature of the 19th Century. Special author, Shakespeare's Henry V.

Poetry.—Extracts from the works of authors studied during literature lessons.

History.—England at the beginning of the 19th Century; Nelson; Wellington; Waterloo; The Industrial Revolution and its effects on life of English people; Parliamentary Reform; Corn Laws; Free Trade; The Indian Mutiny; British Colonial Expansion in the 19th Century; Constitution and Government of the Australian Commonwealth and States.

Geography.—Commercial Geography of the British Empire.

Scripture.—Studies in St. Mark's Gospel.

Arithmetic.—Decimal notation; simple compound practice; simple proportion averages; percentages; simple problems in profit and loss in trade transactions; simple interest; discount. Mental work leading up to slate work all through the course.

The reading is smooth and intelligent, and a very fair amount of independent reading is done. Some of the pupils are very devoted to books, especially works relating to historical matters. The written composition is commendable.

Instrumental music still gets too much attention, and there is perhaps too little free singing. The songs might be more of the kind which children love.

Manual Training.

The schemes of manual training have been considerably extended during the year. That for the girls develops into a system of domestic training; while that for the boys has a utilitarian trend in its later stages, so far as this can be accomplished without prejudice to educational values. The manual instruction in the Deaf School follows as far as possible the hand and eye training of normal children. Numbers of pupils have been admitted to the school at ten and eleven years of age or over, who had little or no finger dexterity. Some of these, who could not even lace a boot, have made surprising progress in manual occupations. Muscular and sense training and the development of the faculty for work are prominent amongst the aims of the instructors. The correlation of handwork with several other subjects, especially with language, enters well into the processes. Plan drawing is adopted in the case of cardboard-work, wood-work, etc. All plans are entered in books and checked before being applied. Altogether the manual work is distinctly commendable, and well-arranged sequences are in operation. There are three classes in carpentry, for instance; the stages are accurately graduated, the work being "topped-off" with the construction of useful things of various kinds. Following is a statement of the courses for each school:—

The Deaf.—Kindergarten occupations, mat-weaving, raffia plaiting and weaving, clay modelling; and (for boys only) macrame work, cane weaving, cardboard modelling, light woodwork, carpentry, printing; (for girls only) sewing, knitting, crocheting, fancy needlework, millinery, dressmaking, cookery and laundry work.

The Blind.—Raffia work, bead work, basket and net work, wool mat making, chain weaving, sewing, and knitting.

Very good needlework is done by hand, and two machines are used. Instruction embraces theory as well as practice.

Continuation and Secondary Work.

A sufficiently high standard of elementary work has not yet been attained by the senior pupils to warrant the establishment of a system of secondary education for the deaf, but there is distinctly an opening for continuation work. Under existing conditions pupils must leave the Institution when they are 15 or 16 years of age. The average standard of attainments of these children is not as high as it should be; nor can it be, unless they enter the Institution at an earlier age than is usual. Inquiries point to the fact that the average period of instruction is barely half what it ought to be. If the full period which is necessary could be insisted upon, an appreciable percentage of deaf pupils would at 16 years of age have reached an educational standard which would justify a course of secondary education. In the present circumstances, however, we would suggest the establishment of continuation classes, the aim of which would be the development of language and number, and the improvement of correlated subjects and oral intercourse. Seeing that the tendency towards the extension of the school period in the case of normal children and adolescents is becoming pronounced in this State, as in other countries, the deaf and dumb may properly claim similar consideration here as they do in some places abroad.

There is even more necessity for continuing the education of the blind beyond the ordinary school age. Consequent on their vastly better conditions as regards intellectual advancement (due to the fact that they come to school with a language equipment acquired in a natural way), their standard of attainments is relatively much higher than is possible with the deaf. Indeed, the attainments of many of the blind children compare very favourably with those of sighted children, especially in reading, literature, history, geography, and other subjects to which the Braille lends itself. The claim for higher education for the blind must be obvious.

But a vital necessity in the case of both the deaf and the blind is a compulsory primary education which would bring the children under instruction for a reasonably full period.

General Management.

To commend the teaching staff is not a formality. It is a simple recognition of devoted and efficient service. The changed ideals which have had so marked an influence on educational work generally are affecting this Institution also, its aims and its methods. In all respects the utmost regard is shown for the welfare of the children. They are healthy and happy. The Institution is excellently managed.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ADULT DEAF INSTITUTE.

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Gentlemen,—I beg to present the Eleventh Annual Report of the Adult Deaf Institute.

The work of the Institute has gone steadily on during the past year.

The Sunday services, week-night meetings, and Bible Class have been regularly held, and the average attendance has been, on the whole, satisfactory.

Quarterly social evenings have been held. These evenings are extremely popular, and in each case have been very successful. The gatherings have been large and most enjoyable.

The Cricket Club took part in the Western Suburbs Churches Union Competition, but with only moderate success. One of our members has, however, taken the highest place in the batting averages of the competition.

The health of our members has happily been very good during the year.

It is a gratifying fact that practically all our members are in constant and remunerative employment. This happy state of affairs has obtained throughout the year.

The monthly committee meetings have been well attended, and the members have shown praiseworthy attention to their duties.

The bi-monthly Deaf Journal continues in publication, and much interest is taken in it by the Adult Deaf of the State.

Three marriages have taken place among our members during the year.

The balance-sheet shows the amount of £56 10s 9d standing to the credit of the Institute.

I beg to remain, Gentlemen,

Respectfully yours,

FLETCHER S. BOOTH,

Secretary.

October 15th, 1912.

REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS AT THE FIFTY-FIRST ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

Held at the Institution on Wednesday Afternoon, the 23rd
October, 1912.

The State Governor, his Excellency Lord Chelmsford, presided over a large and representative gathering, which included, among others, the President, Colonel Goodlet, the Vice-Presidents, Messrs. J. R. Love and W. H. Simpson; Hon. Treasurer, F. Phillips, Esq.; Hon. Secretary, W. Rigg, Esq.; Messrs. A. Halloran, W. Winn, Thomas S. Holt, and Dr. T. Storie Dixon (Directors), Drs. E. Selwyn Harrison and J. C. Halliday, Rev. Alex. Simms, and Mesdames F. Storie Dixon, Rigg, Manson, Rofe, Munce, and Cosh (members of the Ladies' Visiting Committee).

The Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting,

His Excellency said: I think the Annual Report and Balance Sheet have been distributed among you, and I would suggest that they be taken as read. This was agreed to.

It is now my pleasing duty to move the first resolution this afternoon, "That the Report be adopted and, together with the Balance Sheet, etc., be printed for circulation."

I wish, in the first place, to say how sorry Lady Chelmsford is at being unable to be present this afternoon owing to a previous engagement. I am delighted to be here once again to preside over the Annual Meeting of this Institution. The Report shows that there have been several losses amongst those responsible for the government of the Institution, and, when we remember the value that personal interest and personal contact are in places such as this, I think the real gravity of those losses comes home to us. Still, their example remains with us, and I think that those who fill their places and those who still remain will take care that those losses are fully made up by their extra work and sympathy. At all events, I feel sure that you will agree with me that in the President of this Association, we have a gentleman who, by his 34 years' work on the Board and 51 years as a subscribing member, gives a good example to all his colleagues and the Committee who are responsible for the working of the Institution.

I think it is hardly necessary for me to dwell upon the importance of the work done here. I am sure there will be others who will do that, for its importance is patent to us all; but I should like to echo the sentiment contained in the second page of the Report, viz., with regard to the education of the deaf and dumb and blind being made compulsory through the State. One can hardly estimate the loss to the children who are deprived of the advantages of such an Institution as this through the mistaken kindness of their parents. Well, if there is no enactment which enables the children to be brought here, at all events, I hope that all those who are interested in this particular branch of education will do their best to impress upon parents who have children so afflicted the real necessity of bringing them here, so that they may make the best of their lives. The Report regrets that some of the children who have come here during the past year have been brought in at a later stage in their lives than would enable them to reap the full benefits of this Institution. If that is the case with children who come here at a later stage of their lives, how much more must it be the case with those who never have the chance of benefiting by the instruction given in this place.

I need not dilate upon the finances of the Institution. If you will cast your eyes over the investments contained in the endowment fund, you will all realise the very great interest that has been taken for so long in the work—a fact which is testified to by the money given to the Institution in the past. I think, also, that that list would cause a serious breach of the Tenth Commandment on the part of many other institutions which are not so favourably off financially as yours. To be able to look upon £42,000, all well invested and bringing in a substantial income, might well make others envious of your financial position.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, as an annual meeting is a business one, perhaps it will be legitimate to touch upon larger questions of policy. I hope you will excuse me if I allude to a question which must sooner or later confront those who are responsible for the management of this place. I do not say it is a matter of to-day or to-morrow, but it is always well, when large questions of policy are involved, to remember the proverb that "To be forewarned is to be forearmed." The inevitable growth of great cities leads to establishments which have been planted down on the verge of large towns ultimately being surrounded and swallowed up by the buildings and dense population which grow up all around. That, I suppose, was the case originally with this Institution. When it was first set here in these spacious grounds it stood on the outskirts of what then was the city of Sydney; but you know how Sydney has expanded and developed, so that it can hardly be said to be on the verge of the city at the present moment. It is in the centre of a most densely populated part of Sydney. What has happened here has been the case in innumerable instances in the great city from which I come, London. The question which will come before the governing body here will be whether they will be fettered by the town surroundings which have grown up since the foundation of this place, or whether they will take their courage in their hands and migrate further out in search of fresh air and the freedom and lung space the country affords. There must inevitably be, when such a question of policy comes up for decision, the pang of separation from a place with which the members have been long associated, and there may be the fear that the general public will show a loss of interest. A move such as I suggest is to ensure the objects of the Association, but may I give you a couple of instances of what has happened in connection with other establishments not exactly similar, but bearing some similarities to the case of your Institution. There were two great schools in London, established four or five hundred years ago—the Charterhouse School and the other known by the name of the Bluecoat School. These schools had been associated for centuries and by historical buildings with the places where their founders originally established them. No doubt the London of that time contained many fields and plenty of fresh air and lung spaces; but another London grew up—a London congested with buildings and crowded population, an eminently unsuitable position for a school. Certain courageous men in connection with these places took their courage in their hands and said, "The time has come to uproot ourselves, even from these old buildings, and take our school out into country districts where the boys can get all that the country can give them." What was the result? Those schools, instead of losing popularity and the interest which people had shown in them heretofore, redoubled that interest, and their numbers, instead of receding, doubled, trebled, and quadrupled. And so I think it must be in the case of those institutions which are set down in the middle of great cities. If it is possible to remove them into freer and wider surroundings, they will have a future with which the past can in no wise compare. They will be the better for the move and they will flourish even more abundantly than they did before. Financial considerations will really have little weight when such a policy has to be considered, because you have a strong financial position, and you have also your supporters who have given by their sympathy and support so much encouragement to those engaged in the carrying on of this Institution.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I have hazarded this question this afternoon, not because it can, I conceive, be in any way congenial to you who have been identified with this old Institution, and would be sorry to see it transplanted to some other place, but because inevitably, in the growth of time, this question will have to be faced: whether you are to go on surrounded by a city as you are now, or whether you will choose the freer, the better, and the healthier life of the country? Those are my reasons for bringing it up at this time. I have great confidence in the way in which this place is managed, and I have every sympathy with the work that it is doing; but I feel this is a policy you will have to consider some day or other, and that is my excuse for bringing it before you. I have much pleasure in formally moving the resolution.

The President (Col. J. H. Goodlet), in seconding the resolution, said: I would like to begin by saying I was very pleased that his Excellency referred to the second page of the Report. I only hope some of the State Ministers will take it to heart and do what they have been promising for years—bring in a law to make it compulsory for parents to send their children who are deaf, dumb or blind, to be taught here. We have been moving and trying for years to get such a bill passed, and though the Government brought one in lately to compel parents to send their children to the public schools we thought that they should have added a clause to include the deaf and dumb and blind. However, they did not, because they said they were going to bring in a special bill for that purpose; but—it is only promised and has not got further than that. There is another clause which should be included in the bill when they do bring it in, and that is in regard to children who are mentally defective. We have had to reject some who were not suitable for admission to our Institution, and there is a great want in this State for a school or some place where those children can be taken in hand and properly treated. So that, I repeat, I hope the second page of the Report will be taken to heart by Ministers, and a move made towards bringing in the desired bill.

The Directors are very sorry the children are not here as usual to show the progress that many of them have made, but the Doctor in his wisdom last week decided that it was not safe to congregate the children here, because there is a case of measles and he is afraid there may be others in the course of development. Consequently, if he brought them together, the result might be that instead of one in the hospital, we might have a score. But after the meeting the children will exhibit some of their gymnastics and give displays in the cricket ground.

I suppose most of you have seen a copy of the Report; if not, you will get one in due course. Things have gone on satisfactorily during the year. The Government Inspectors have examined the children at our request and have reported that the progress made is very satisfactory. We have been short of room during the year, and after due deliberation the Board decided that the best way to utilise this room in which we are now gathered would be as a dining-room. It will still do for the Annual Meeting, because the tables and chairs can be cleared away. Then we had to build a kitchen behind with the usual sculleries and all the necessary accompaniments of good domestic arrangements. Above, we have rooms for the servants; and over that two good hospital rooms, one for girls and the other for boys. In addition to that we intend to pull down the old kitchen and erect proper class-rooms and dormitories for the children. The centre wing that we propose to build will accommodate a great many more. I should like to add that the Board cordially invite you to inspect the new accommodation that has been provided. I have much pleasure in seconding the adoption of the Report and Balance Sheet.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

Apologies for their absence were received from Lady Chelmsford, Sir Philip Sydney Jones, the State Attorney-General (Mr. Holman), Dr. Geo. E. Rennie, and Mr. Sutherland Sinclair.

In moving the following resolution: "That the thanks of this meeting are hereby given to the Government and Parliament for the annual donation of £450 in aid of the funds of the Institution," Mr. Phillips (Treasurer) said: At some of our Annual Meetings, speakers have referred to the inadequacy of this subsidy, which, I am sorry to say, has not been increased. I am pleased to add that the present Government have met us in other directions, for which the Directors are very grateful.

Dr. Halliday seconded the resolution, which was carried.

The Rev. Alex. Simms: It is with the sincerest pleasure that I find myself for the first time at an Annual Meeting of the Institution. A special pleasure to me has been the personal introduction to the President, of whose benefactions to this and other good things I have heard a good deal during the short time I have been in Sydney. Without speaking at any further length, I wish to move the following resolution:—

"That the following gentlemen be members of the Board of Directors for the ensuing year:—President, John H. Goodlet, Esq., J.P.; Vice-Presidents, James R. Love, Esq., and W. H. Simpson, Esq., J.P.; Hon. Treasurer, Fred. Phillips, Esq.; Hon. Secretary, William Rigg, Esq., J.P.; Directors (to fill vacancies), Thomas S. Holt, Esq., William Winn, Esq., and Robert Viars, Esq.; and that the following do constitute the Medical Staff: Hon. Consulting Physician and Hon. Medical Inspector, George E. Rennie, Esq., M.D., F.R.C.P.; Hon. Consulting Surgeon, Charles P. B. Clubbe, Esq., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.; Hon. Ophthalmic Surgeon, J. C. Halliday, Esq., M.D., Ch.M., F.R.C.S.; Hon. Aurist Surgeon, John B. Graham, Esq., M.D., M.Ch.; Hon. Physicians, P. Sydney Jones, Esq., M.B., Ch.M., and E. Selwyn Harrison, Esq., M.B., Ch.M.; Hon. Dentists, A. G. Gabriel, Esq., and Henry E. Walker, Esq."

In seconding the resolution Mr. Halloran said: I have great pleasure in seconding this resolution. As regards the new Directors, these gentlemen have already been sitting on the Board for some time; they are most up-to-date and progressive men, and we cannot do better than place them on the list of Directors.

The resolution was carried.

Mr. William Winn (Director), in moving a vote of thanks to the honorary staff for their services during the past year, said: "I am one of the new members of the Board, and am very pleased to do all I can to help the Institution. Before I move the vote of thanks that has been placed in my hands, I would like to thank your Excellency for your splendid speech. I feel sure that each member of the Board will remember your suggestions, for I think myself it would be a splendid thing to have an institution of this kind further out in the country. I think if we had gentlemen on boards who would take up and look at things in the way your Excellency has done to-day, there would be no lack of success. It would be a splendid thing to have his Excellency on the Board.

There is one thing I complain of in connection with this duty imposed upon me, that is, I think that you have not given me time for preparation to elaborate my ideas on the subject, because it needs careful preparation to do justice to such a task as proposing a vote of thanks to the honorary Medical, Surgical, and Dental Staff for their splendid services to the Institution during the past year. We are laymen and not members of Parliament, and cannot rattle off a speech at a moment's notice, and do not like to lose an opportunity to make a speech, in delivering which some of us may distinguish ourselves and be selected as members of Parliament later on. I have the greatest pleasure in proposing that our very best thanks be accorded to the officers of the Medical, Surgical, and Dental Staffs for their services during the past year. They have always been ready to do all they can, and the work is so well carried on that it will become gradually less and less, because of the splendid efforts which have been put forth by them in the past.

Mr. Simpson (Vice-President), seconded the resolution. He said: I have pleasure in seconding the resolution. The Institution has been for many years under immense obligations to these gentlemen, who give their services gratuitously and with the greatest cordiality for the benefit of the Institution. You all know how much the health and happiness of the children depend upon these medical gentlemen—the dentists especially—and the work has been done to the satisfaction of the Board, the parents, and all those who take an interest in the Institution.

The customary vote of thanks to the Directors and Officers of the Institution for their services during the year was moved by Dr. E. Selwyn Harrison, who said: I believe my absence has been apologised for, and, therefore, I am officially absent, but I have been asked to move this vote of thanks to the officers of the Institution. As a newcomer, I think it almost impertinent to offer a vote of thanks to the Directors who have been working for so many years in a way that is almost beyond expression. With regard to the officers, I have come in contact with them—the Superintendent, Matron and others—and can speak of them in the very highest terms; so much so that in the six months I have been on duty I have had but four calls to children here, purely as the result of their skill and attention in taking care of them. I have pleasure in moving this resolution.

Dr. Halliday seconded the resolution, which was carried.

Proposing a vote of thanks to Lord Chelmsford for presiding, Mr. J. R. Love (Vice-President) said: I am very pleased to move this vote of thanks to his Excellency for coming here to-day. With reference to education of the young, it seems that the Government are asking that children with all their faculties shall be forced by law to attend school regularly; while those who are not efficient, such as the children we have in this Institution, are not compelled to go to school, with the result that very many children with defective sight, or who are deaf and dumb, in the country towns especially, are not sent to the Institution to be educated. To educate such children properly we want to have them in the Institution about the ages of six and seven, then we can turn them out satisfactorily. But when parents request us to take their children at the ages of fourteen or sixteen, it is almost an impossibility to educate them or fit them properly for the battle of life. I sincerely hoped that we should get a clause inserted in the Act of Parliament to satisfy our grievances, but this was not the case.

Our children are very healthy, and the school is in a flourishing condition. The other day when the Automobile Club took the children for a trip, some five and thirty motors came for them and every child was able to go. That speaks volumes for the management, which is really good.

We have made changes here, as you see. This room has been turned into a dining-room and kitchen, and we have to provide more accommodation for the teachers and scholars. What a splendid chance some of our people have to get their names handed down to posterity by establishing a Moore, Brown or Jones wing! This Institution is conducted in a most economical manner. We wish to carry on these schools in an up-to-date fashion in every respect, and we have the best teachers that can be procured. I am happy to say that our excellent Superintendent has done a great deal and has procured the services of two gentlemen from the old country who, I have no doubt, will help on the cause in every way. I am sure the whole staff deserve our hearty thanks, for I have come to the conclusion myself that they must be descendants of Job, for if you could only watch the patience and perseverance displayed by them in training the children, it would astonish you. I may mention that we lament very much the death of some of our Directors—three of whom we have lost during the year—men who devoted a great deal of time and energy in order to help on the work. But I am afraid I am not keeping to the text—I was not asked to make a speech, for the Secretary has brought me in rather unexpectedly. I have been requested to move a vote of thanks to his Excellency for coming here and presiding at our meeting. (Carried by acclamation.)

In accepting the vote of thanks, his Excellency said: I thank you for passing the vote of thanks. Mr. Love, considering his diffidence about addressing you, has certainly done very well. I feel sure, by the acclamation with which you carried the resolution, that he convinced you of what he wanted to convey.

I have also much pleasure in declaring the new wing open, and I am instructed by the Directors to invite all present to inspect the new premises, and watch the physical exercises which will be given outside by the children.

The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem, after which his Excellency inspected the new additions, saw the children at their physical exercises, and was entertained at afternoon tea in the board-room.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

“The object of this Institution is the education and maintenance and, as far as practicable, the advancement in life of deaf and dumb and blind children.”

The Institution is open to Subscribers and other Visitors on Tuesdays and Fridays, from 2 to 4 p.m., and at other times on special order from the Honorary Secretary or a Director.

The Parents and Friends of children are admitted once a fortnight, on Thursdays, between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

The children are permitted to leave the Institution to visit their friends once a month, on special written application being made to the Honorary Secretary.

When a case of serious or infectious illness occurs while a pupil is at home, it must be reported to the Hon. Secretary, and the child must not be returned to school until all danger of infection has passed, and a medical certificate to that effect produced.

Forms and all particulars for the admission of pupils can be obtained of the Honorary Secretary.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received and acknowledged by the Treasurer, the Secretary, or at the Institution.

The Meetings of the Board of Directors are held on the Second Monday in each month, at 3 o'clock p.m. The Ladies' Visiting Committee meet at the Institution on the last Friday in each month, at 3 o'clock.

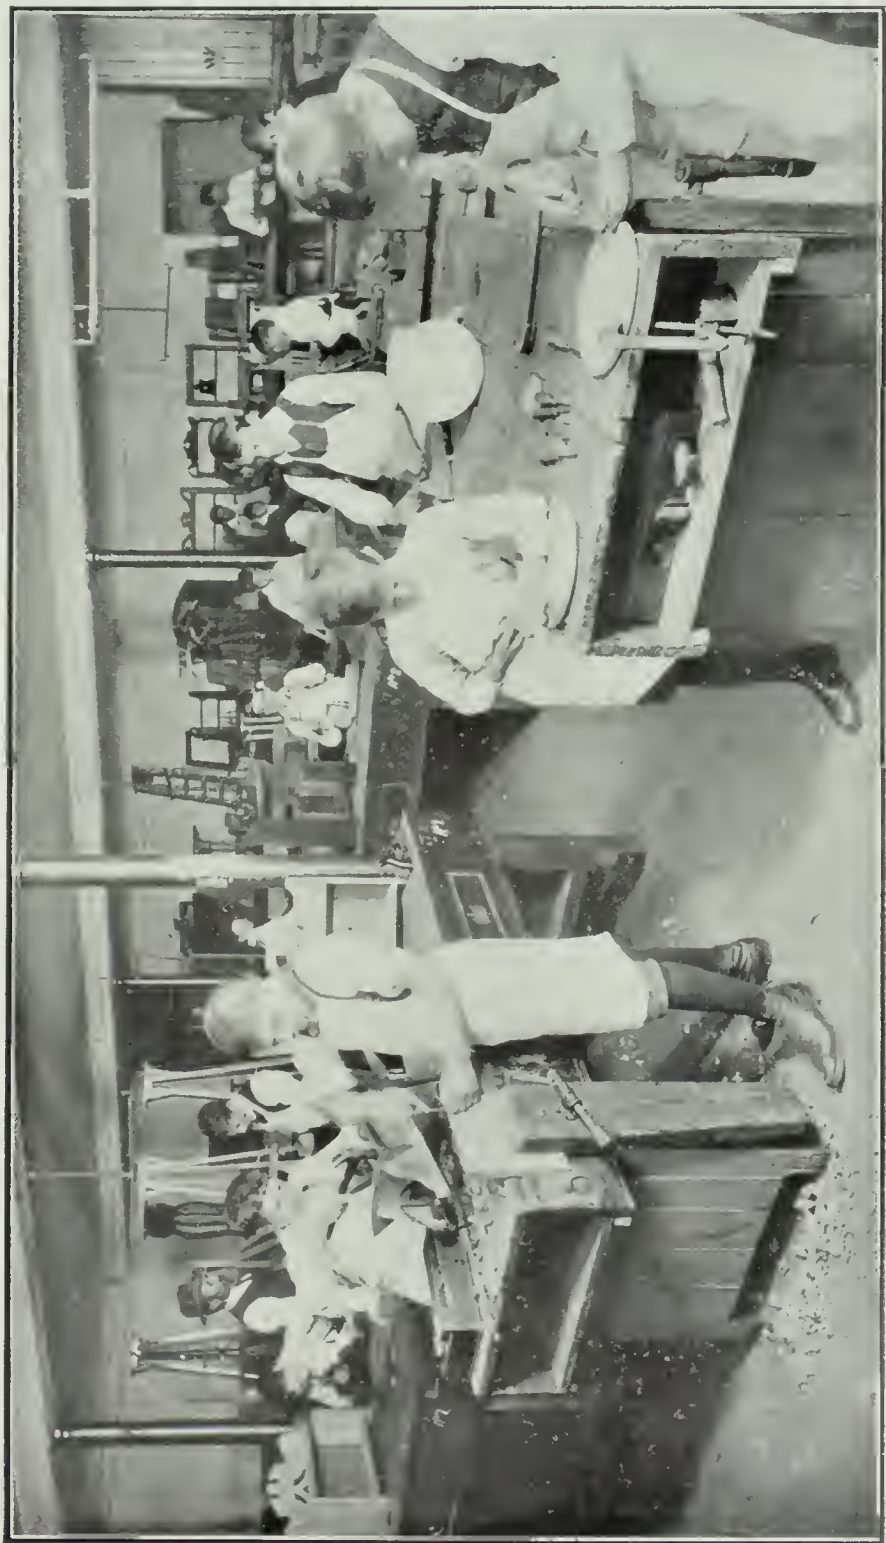

The cost of passages to and from the Institution must be paid by the friends of the pupils, the Board having no fund for this purpose.

All communications to be addressed to Mr. William Rigg, Honorary Secretary, at the Institution, City Road, Darlington, Sydney.

Money orders should be made payable to the Secretary or Treasurer, at the General Post Office, Sydney.

It is highly necessary that the Parents or Friends of children should notify the Secretary of any change of residence, so that, in case of illness, or other cause, immediate communication may be made.

The Public, Subscribers, and friends of the Institution are earnestly entreated to notify the Secretary of the existence in their districts of any Deaf and Dumb or Blind Children, not under instruction, it having been a source of great regret to the Board to find that several children have passed the age of admission, simply from their not having come under the notice of some kind friends who would take the necessary steps to enable them to be brought within the advantages of the Institution.

DEAF BOYS LEARNING CARPENTRY

PUPILS AT PHYSICAL DRILL.

INFORMATION AND DIRECTIONS RELATIVE TO THE ADMISSION OF CHILDREN TO THE INSTITUTION.

1. Applications must be in writing, addressed to the Secretary, sent before the child is brought to the Institution, and should contain as full information as possible. The necessary forms can be obtained of the Hon. Secretary.

2. Pupils are admissible from any part of the State of New South Wales, and, under certain conditions, from other States.

3. No child deficient in intellect, subject to fits, or unable to wash and dress itself, can be considered a fit subject for admission; and no child, whose conduct or habits are deemed by the officers to be objectionable, will be allowed to remain in the Institution.

4. No child shall be admitted of an age younger than five years, nor older than twelve years, unless under special circumstances, to be decided by the Board.

5. No order will be given by the Secretary for a child's admission until the medical certificate has been obtained, and it must be understood that no children are eligible for admission until every means have been tried for restoring their sight or hearing, as the case may be.

6. Children, on entering the Institution, are required to have two complete suits of clothing for school or week-day wear, to be of dark colour, and a better suit for Sunday, and to be provided with clothing (see list) by their parents and friends during their residence. Each child must be provided with a box or trunk, in which to keep clothing when clean. If £5 be remitted, the Board will purchase an outfit on admission.

7. Any amounts remitted to the Secretary for the purchase of clothing will be expended under the direction of the Board of Directors.

8. School fees vary according to the circumstances of the parents; the highest fee is £40 a year. If the parents are not able to pay that amount, a smaller fee will be accepted.

9. In the case of children whose parents are unable to pay any fees, a certificate of their inability to pay any fee must be obtained from known individuals.

10. Fees are payable in advance, and date from the time of admission.

11. Children cannot be permitted to leave the Institution unless with the direct sanction and authority of the Board of Directors.

12. In addition to the ordinary scholastic subjects, every child in the Institution receives some form of manual training, further particulars of which are given on the previous page.

13. The vacations are 6 weeks at Christmas and 1 week at midwinter; and it is essential that pupils should return to the Institution on the day fixed to commence duties after each vacation, "and with their clothing clean and in proper order." (See list.)

14. Pupils are expected to remain in the Institution until they attain the age of 16 years, and except under very special circumstances, no child will be allowed to remain after attaining this age. The attention of parents is specially drawn to this in the hope that they will realise the necessity for sending their children to school at an early age. Failure to do this means depriving the children of at least a portion of their education.

15. Except under special circumstances children will only be admitted at two periods of the year, viz., in January and July.

16. It is requested that all communications be addressed to

WILLIAM RIGG, Hon. Secretary,
City Road, Darlington, Sydney.

HINTS TO PARENTS OF BLIND CHILDREN.

Remember that your child is just an ordinary child—deprived of sight—and treat him accordingly. Teach him to walk as soon as you would if he had his sight, and train him to use his limbs. He is dependent on the sense of touch (feeling) for much of the knowledge that is received by other children through the eye; and from the earliest possible time should be taught to observe shapes, sizes, weights, etc., by feeling things, and to find his way about the home and surroundings.

Do not make the mistake of imagining that because your child is blind it is necessary or kind to do almost everything for him. It is quite unnecessary, and, bearing in mind the fact that the more intelligent occupation the child has, and the more he discovers that he can do for himself, the less will he feel the deprivation of sight, it is positively unkind to bring him up in a helpless manner. Let him learn to wash and dress himself, and to attend to his other personal requirements, and to be neat and tidy. Teach him to feed himself, and be as particular over his table behaviour as you would be with a sighted child.

Teach him to walk correctly and carry himself well. Be very careful to check at the very outset any little objectionable mannerism that may show itself. Some blind children have a tendency to facial grimace, screwing the fingers into the eyes, rocking the body backward and forward, or from side to side, and if these practices are not stopped on their appearance they may develop into habits that will require years to eradicate.

Teach your child all the little nursery rhymes, fairy tales and songs that go to make childhood happy, and always endeavour that he may hear only such things as you would like him to remember.

Do not let him feel that his blindness makes him different to other children; but help him to realise that he is just the same as they, and “as good as anybody else.” Let him help in all the little domestic operations in which children assist their parents.

Do not discuss his blindness in his presence—and show your sympathy for him not by bewailing the fact that he is blind, but by helping him, in ways suggested above, and in other ways that will suggest themselves to any intelligent parent, to overcome the disabilities of blindness to the highest possible degree. Do everything necessary to secure his happiness—but remember that the surest way of making him miserable and unhappy is to “spoil” him by placing him outside any form of discipline.

As soon as he is old enough—at 5 years of age or thereabouts—send him to school. There he will be surrounded by people whose lives are devoted to the education and care of children such as he; and it is only there that he will be able to secure the education which will enable him to take his place in the world, and which will supply him with the knowledge and mental development necessary to his personal happiness and advancement.

Do not take your child for examination or treatment to any but a duly qualified medical man. Secure for him the best medical advice obtainable, but on no account go to any “doctor” who has no medical degree. There is grave risk of serious damage resulting from the interference of any unqualified person with such a delicate organ as the eye.

If you act on the lines suggested here, you will be doing much for your child. He will be brighter and happier at home, and when he comes to school he will be in a better position to benefit by the instruction given, and his educational advancement will be more rapid.

PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS.

It has been estimated that 40 per cent. of blindness is due to the disease Ophthalmia Neonatorum, or Infantile Ophthalmia. In other words, it is probable that four out of every ten blind people have lost their sight from this cause.

Ophthalmia Neonatorum is a disease which attacks the eyes of newly-born children, their eyes being infected by the mother during the birth. It is very dangerous and infectious, and unless prompt measures are taken on its appearance, it almost inevitably results in blindness. Sometimes the disease yields to treatment, but in this disease perhaps more than in any other is prevention better than cure.

The attention of parents, midwives and others is called to the following instructions, which, if invariably carried out, would do much towards minimising the amount of blindness in the world, and preserving the inestimable blessing of sight to children whose eyes are attacked by the dread disease Ophthalmia Neonatorum.

1. When a child is born, see that the eyes are carefully and thoroughly washed out. In lying-in institutions and in other cases where there is danger of infection, the midwives should be instructed to instil a drop of one per cent. silver nitrate solution or twenty-five per cent Argyrol solution into the baby's eyes.
2. Especially in the first week or two of the child's life, carefully examine the eyes for signs of inflammation (redness of the eyes or lids, discharge, or swelling).
3. If there is any suggestion of Inflammation, SEND FOR THE DOCTOR. Do not wait to see if the condition of the eye becomes worse—remember that the sight of the child may be imperilled.
4. Previous to the doctor's arrival, wash the child's eyes in clean warm solution of Boracic Acid every quarter of an hour; using clean cotton wool, and being careful not to use the same piece of cotton wool twice, and being also careful not to touch both eyes with one piece.
5. OBEY THE DOCTOR'S INSTRUCTIONS IMPLICITLY. Remember that once the child's sight is destroyed, it can never be regained; and remember, too, that carelessness or failure to properly carry out the doctor's instructions may doom the child to lifelong darkness.

The question of the prevention of blindness from Ophthalmia Neonatorum is a big medical, social and political problem. Other phases of the subject may be referred to at a later date.
